

Howdy Square,

I live in Canada. Know what sucks? Money transfer. Want to pay your friend back five bucks for that Banh Mi they got you? Too bad, you better have cash. That's why I love Square, so I avoid using cash, and Square Cash, which lets me easily pay people back for cash if I need to. I believe in the simplicity of the future of commerce Square provides, and what it empowers business owners to do. The unseen impact Square has had in my life is huge: the amount bubble tea, coffee, and general good times I have purchased using a Square reader is innumerable. Now I want to have an impact on that world, and solve real problems to help people run their businesses, and help people who want to buy from them.
